BIO

Lital is an intern in the firm's Commercial Department, where she provides legal advice on various matters to private and public companies, including securities law and corporate law issues.

Lital holds an LL.B. in Law and an LL.M. in Law, Technology and Business Innovation from Reichman University.

During her studies, she participated in a seminar on Law and Technology, Artificial Intelligence, and ESG at King's College London, as part of the Global League of Law Schools. In addition, she took part in a practicum at the State Attorney's Office (Taxation and Economics Division), focusing on white-collar offenses, and participated in the high-tech field of the firm's HONORS program.

Lital served as a student representative at Reichman University's Student Union and as a coordinator in the "Students Serving the Community" program, where she assisted underprivileged populations in realizing their legal rights before courts and enforcement authorities. She also participated in the Youth and Young Adults Legal Clinic and was active in the university's debate club.

Before joining the firm, Lital worked for several years at Codex, where she served as a faculty ambassador and later as a placement advisor in the interns' department, assisting in the placement of interns and liaising with leading law firms in the market.
