BIO

Nimrod Vromen is the founder and CEO of Ark Empowerment Ltd., a venture focused on redefining the professional services industry with innovative, AI-driven platforms. He also leads Consiglieri, a consultancy that supports startups in managing complex transactions. As co-founder of ForPosterity, Nimrod and the team work to capture and preserve the legacies of the elderly through personalized storytelling. Nimrod additionally serves as Chief Growth Officer of the Startup Sector at Arnon Tadmor-Levy Law Offices, where he has guided hundreds of startups from inception through their entire lifecycle for over 15 years, helping them navigate the complexities of growth and innovation. He is also the founder of Elevate Israel, a non-profit dedicated to identifying and cultivating future leaders to strengthen the public sector.

Nimrod's professional excellence has earned him recognition in leading international legal directories, including Chambers and Partners and The Legal 500, positioning him among the most respected advisors in Israel's startup and innovation ecosystem.

Nimrod is the author of Prompting Happiness, now available on Amazon, which explores the pursuit of happiness in the AI age through a blend of humor, personal insight, and philosophical depth. The book presents a unique perspective on self-prompting as a tool for happiness, guiding readers to approach their lives with intentionality and resilience. He also created Startup Confidential, a series available on arkmedianetwork.com and Calcalist, which dives into the challenges of four diverse companies.
