BIO

Samuel (Shmulie) Kuperstok is an associate in the firm's High-Tech, Venture Capital, and Corporate Department. Specializing in representing high-tech startups, established companies, multinational corporations, and venture capital funds in a wide array of industries, he has specific expertise in private equity financings, strategic investments, commercial transactions, and M&As.

Additionally, Samuel offers ongoing legal counsel addressing a spectrum of corporate challenges, such as corporate governance, private equity financing, and various commercial matters, incorporating legal considerations into the everyday functioning of companies, to ensure that legal matters are integrated into the practical aspects of day-to-day operations.

A graduate of Reichman University (IDC Herzliya), Samuel earned his LL.B. in 2020 and gained admission to the Israel Bar in 2022. Complementing his legal qualifications, he holds a B.A. in business administration from the same institution, showcasing a comprehensive understanding of the synergy between law and business.

Samuel is fluent in both English and Hebrew.
