BIO

Mor Sananes specializes in commercial and corporate law. She provides a wide range of legal services, including legal advice on corporate matters, drafting and supporting commercial agreements and transactions, such as M&A deals, and ensuring regulatory compliance across different sectors.

With a deep understanding of consumer protection law, Mor provides legal guidance on consumer-related issues to leading Israeli and international companies.

Additionally, Mor has experience in public procurement law, advising public entities on managing tenders and supporting private organizations involved in tender processes. In this capacity, Mor also acts as the legal advisor to the tender committee of a higher education institution.

Mor also advises third-sector organizations and international NGOs operating in Israel, assisting with legal matters related to their formation and activities.

Mor joined the firm as an attorney in 2022. Before joining, she worked as an attorney and intern at Gross & Co.
